DANFORTH SCHOLARSHIPS

The Danforth Foundation, an educational foundation located in St. Louis, Missouri, invites applications for the ninth class (1960) of Danforth Graduate Fellows from college senior men and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1960, for their first year of graduate study. The Foundation welcomes applicants from the areas of Natural and Biological Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities and all fields of specialization to be found in the undergraduate college.

President A. H. Edens has named Dr. H. J. Herring as the Liaison Officer to nominate to the Danforth Foundation two or not to exceed three candidates for these 1960 fellowships. These appointments are fundamentally "a relationship of encouragement" throughout the years of graduate study, carrying a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions as there may be need. The maximum annual grant for single Fellows is $1500 plus tuition and fees charged to all graduate students; for married Fellows, $2000 plus tuition and fees charged to all graduate students with an additional stipend of $500 for each child. Students with or without financial need are invited to apply. A Danforth Fellow is allowed to carry other scholarship appointments, such as Rhodes, Fulbright, Woodrow Wilson, Marshall, etc., concurrently with his Danforth Fellowship, and applicants for these appointments are cordially invited to apply at the same time for a Danforth Fellowship. If a man received the Danforth Appointment, together with a Rhodes Scholarship, Fulbright Scholarship, or Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, he becomes a Danforth Fellow without stipend, until these other relationships are completed.

All Danforth Fellows will participate in the annual Danforth Foundation Conference on Teaching, to be held at Camp Miniwanka in Michigan next September, 1960.

The qualifications of the candidates as listed in the announcement from the Foundation are: men of outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, and integrity and character, including serious inquiry within the Christian tradition.

All applications, including the recommendations, must be completed by January 31, 1960. Any student wishing further information should get in touch with our Liaison officer.

Students who receive a Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship will be paid $1500 plus tuition and dependency allowances for a year of graduate study at a university of their choice in the United States or Canada. Students being detached from the armed forces before September 1960 are also eligible. Fellowships will be held over for those who must perform military duty before entering graduate school.

Candidates may not file applications directly, but will be sent application forms after personal nomination by a member of the faculty. Any student expecting to graduate in the spring of 1960 may learn more of the details of this Fellowship by consulting the Director of Undergraduate Studies in his major field, or the local representative of the Foundation, Professors M. M. Bevington, Richard L. Watson, Jr., and Patrick R. Vincent, of the Departments of English, History, and Romance Languages, respectively.

A student may request any member of the faculty to nominate him; or else a member of the faculty who is familiar with the student's work and interest in college teaching may write a recommendation on his own initiative directly to Professor Richard Bardolph, Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, Box 5095, Greensboro, North Carolina, who is the Regional Chairman.

The deadline for receiving nominations for the 1960 Fellowships is October 31, 1959. Application blanks will be mailed directly to the student on receipt of a faculty nomination. Only students who have a sincere interest in entering college teaching, whose records are superior, and who will do graduate work in the humanities, or the social or natural sciences, should request nomination. ## CHAMBER MUSIC CONCERTS

The Chamber Arts Society announces the following five concerts for the 1959-'60 season:

October 24—The Vegh String Quartet

Founded in Budapest in 1946, this quartet retains its original personnel. They have appeared at most of the important festivals of Europe with resounding success.

November 21—Camera Concerti

This is a chamber orchestra comprised of the finest young American instrumentalists and featuring Joseph Eger, French horn, and Walter Trampler, viola, in a repertoire of rarely heard chamber orchestra literature.

January 23—The Netherlands String Quartet

This is the second American tour for this group. A representative review of their first tour states: "Our memory extends through half a century of listening but we can think of no chamber music group that possesses in so high a degree every requisite for what we often heedlessly call perfection."

February 13—The Trio Di Bolzano

This ensemble now ranks as probably the finest of its instrumentation in Europe. Their performances are described as "incandescent, overwhelmingly beautiful, unforgettable."

March 19—The Hollywood String Quartet

The formidable reputation achieved by this Quartet is based on a remarkable series of recordings on the Capitol label, as well as international concert tours.

These concerts will be given in the Music Room, East Duke Building, and will begin at 8:15 p.m.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF FACULTY FELLOWSHIPS FOR RESEARCH AND OTHER SCHOLARLY ACTIVITY: SUMMERS OF 1960 AND 1961

The University Committee on Long-Range Planning since beginning its activities in October 1958, has noted the recurring request in reports from departments, subcommittees, and individuals for adjustments providing greater time and means for research and related scholarly activity.

In its First Progress Report of June, 1959, the Planning Committee laid great stress on research and scholarship as among the essential functions of the University.

Accordingly, in the light of the recurring requests noted, the Committee has recommended a two-year experiment with a program of summer faculty fellowships for research and related scholarly activity. This recommendation has been approved by the Vice-President in the Division of Education for implementation in the summer of 1960.

These faculty fellowships, six in number each summer, and of a value of $1,200.00, will be open to assistant and associate professors in Arts and Science and in Engineering on a basis of written application to the Research Council which will administer the program.

Members of the Faculty eligible to apply for these grants will be advised at an early date by the Chairman of the Research Council of the general purposes for which grants will be made, and concerning the material the Council will need in reaching its decisions on awards.

The compositions range from the abstract to the realistic—each built around a definite titled theme, using music to set the mood. Death of a Salesman is one of the most provocative plays of our time. It won the Critics' Circle Award, the Pulitzer Prize, and the Antoinette Perry Award. One reason why audiences have found such appeal in this play may be found in a statement by W. ## LEONARD WEISGARD CHILDREN'S BOOK ILLUSTRATIONS SHOWN BY DUKE UNIVERSITY PRESS

A comprehensive showing of children's book illustrations by artist Leonard Weisgard is being offered by the Duke University Press in the lobby of East Duke Building, East Campus, through April 1st. Mr. Weisgard has illustrated many favorite children's books, and his illustrations for The Little Island won for him the Caldecott Medal in 1947. He has been the author of many of his picture books. And he pictured many of the concepts, revolutionary in their day, of the noted children's book author, the late Margaret Wise Brown. Miss Brown and Mr. Weisgard were among the first to give children an actual participation in books, pursued through the original, The Noisy Book and its distinguished successive publications in this "design" pattern.

The American Institute of Graphic Arts has recognized many of his books by including them in The Fifty Books of the Year and in the series of Children's Book Shows held since 1941.

Born in Trieste into a family descended from Spanish nobility on her father's side, she brooked family opposition to satisfy an overwhelming desire to become a sculptress.

At twenty-five she had her first exhibition at the Galleria Rizzi in Florence, Italy—with seventy pieces on display and she sold them all! It was the beginning of world wide recognition.

Anyone who has seen her sculpture and heard her speak knows he is in the presence of a talent which, as the great sculptor Jacob Epstein put it, "approximates genius." She is equally praised by Augustus John who was so impressed with the bust she made of him that, at 74 he embarked on the serious study of sculpture under her tutelage.

The Interfaith and Fellowship Committee of the University Religious Council is working in connection with the Durham Junior League to establish a Host Family Plan for the international students at Duke. This program, which will be put into effect next September, will help to alleviate to some extent the lack of interest now shown these students. We feel that this program will benefit the host families, as well as the students, as vital lines of communication are opened. If you would be willing to serve as host to one of the students, will you please get in touch with Rev. William C. Smith, Box 4351, Duke Station.
